We, the Class of 1969, Dedicate our Record to

Mr. John Sanborn

for

—his dedication to education.

—his understanding of us as individuals.

—his recognition of the importance of academic freedom.

—his unselfish giving of time to make us more appreciative, thoughtful human beings.

DR. JULIUS C. BATALIS
Principal, Littleton High School

Foreword

To educate means literally to lead out. The basic purpose of modern education is to make it possible for our teachers to provide that person to person relationship with our students which is the most effective way to lead them out into the world of knowledge and give them an appreciation of its value. Time will determine how well we have done our job.

Injuries took their toll, however, and the Crusaders saw their dream disappear. Seniors on the squad included: Steve Colby, Tom Downing, Pete Poulsen, Jim Clark, Paul Santina, Jeff Parker, Pete Jasak, Larry Jackson, and Bill Hultgren.

Class History

In the fall of 1965, L.H.S. was the lucky recipient of those ready for anything peagreen freshman! We soon managed to fall into the choatic high school routine. First thing we encountered was the freshmen initiation dance. Those grand ole seniors made the traditional introduction of social life to the new frightened herd. Later in our history, two months to be exact, some bold and brave students decided to take a big step toward . . . leadership. The fate of the freshmen class was now bestowed on the shoulders of four classmates. The authority now was Paul Harvey, along with committee organizer Barbara Pion, the Secretary, Vicki Johnston, and financial bookkeeper, Sally Harris.

As amateurs in the business world our money making schemes left much to be desired. After sponsoring our big event of the year, the St. Pat's dance, our financial situation was on the rise. We were a ready, willing, and able bunch of kids who got involved in sports, musical performances, such as the SOUND OF MUSIC, and record hops, and finally the Winter Carnival in which our snow sculpture of "Snoopy" took first place. After learning some of the ins and outs of high school, we joyfully approached our sophomore year.

We started off this year by electing James Clark as President, Barbara Pion as Vice-President, Secretary Sue Tuttle, and Treasurer Sally Harris. The main money raising effort and social part of this year was the Sadie Hawkins dance. This event, as usual, brought out the hillbillies and hermits, thus the dance became a hootin' success! Again it was Winter Carnival time, and the class accumulated winning points during the game competition, and the snow sculpture, the mouse and the cheese named "The Big Cheese." Before the carnival ball the score was too close to determine a winning class but then the sophomore class won the carnival with the winning queen, Cammy Porfido.

Other events which took place during this year were ordering of class rings, successful food sales and car washes, and the musical, MUSIC MAN.

Progressing towards the top of the ladder, our class again started off the year with the election of officers: President James Clark, Vice-President Roger Merrill, Secretary Sue Tuttle, and Treasurer Sally Harris. The first thing one could notice about the jolly juniors were the class rings, which were usually held in some visible position. Before the biggest social event of the year some of our more athletically inclined classmates went on to bigger and better things by making the varsity basketball squad. Some of the other activities included the basketball concession, more car washes, more food sales, and the annual musical performance, this year being OLIVER TWIST. Finally we proceeded to make early preparations for the Junior Prom, but some frequent opposition soon occurred. Meetings became hard fought arguments, but we fought it out. Nevertheless we came up with a very original idea: CAROUSEL. Work went on at a pace that varied from extreme interest to times of people frustrated and ready to give up. But as the day arrived, we were hustling to finish, decorating the gym, getting tux or finding the right colored corsages. The moment finally arrived with the night being one of beauty and enjoyment. The climax of the night of beauty was the crowning of Sue Tuttle as queen of the prom.

As we entered school in the fall we realized that we were now the "grand ole seniors."

Leadership was now placed on Peter Jasak as President, Paul Santina as Vice-President, Gail Fillion as Secretary, and Sally Harris remained as Treasurer, in charge of our financial headaches.

We conducted the initiation with glee as we were now the "kings" and the poor freshmen our "slaves." The fall went by with a flurry of activities such as our school musical, HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS WITHOUT REALLY TRYING, our more athletically inclined playing football or leading the cross country team or in a flurry of applying to colleges. Apprehension was the word as the time flew by with senior suppers, work on the yearbook, athletics, and waiting for that all important word from college. As carnival time approached we were slightly disorganized but as tradition has it, seniors prevailed, and we ended up by taking second place in the carnival. Work on the senior play was begun and it was assured that TEN LITTLE INDIANS would be a success.

Apprehension, hope, frustration, and success were the key words of our history at L.H.S. The all important day arrives and we, the grand ole seniors of L.H.S., now are going out to challenge the world.
